Detailed Action

The 112, second paragraph rejection of claims 1-5 is withdrawn in light of applicant's amendment at paper no. 10/B. In light of the examiner's discussion telephone interview with applicant's representative, Lori Ann Morgan at paper no. 9, where it was agreed that the examiner would rejoin claims 13-14 and 26-29 in the prosecution of this application, the examiner has examined claims 13-14 and 26-29 in the prosecution of this application.

(new rejections)

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim(s) 13-14 in part are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Specifically, since the claimed invention is not supported by either a specific asserted utility or a well established utility for the reasons set forth above, one skilled in the art clearly would not know how to use the claimed invention. Inhibition of CoX-2 is a mechanism. The specific disease being treated by this inhibition is not stated. The specification must contain one practical utility in currently available form. The inhibition of an enzyme must be related to a disease that needs to be improved and this disease needs to be recited. There is no reasonable assurance that these compounds will have all of the alleged properties or have the applicants supplied the supporting data. The applicant is referred to In re Fouché 169 USPQ 429 ccpa, 1971, MPEP 716.02 B. The applicant is referred to In re Wands, 858 f.2d 731, 737, 8 USPQ2d 1400, 1404 (Fed. Cir. 1988) which includes the incorporation of the 8 factors recited in Ex parte Foreman 230 USPQ 546 (Bd. Of App. And Inter 1986).

Claims 26-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, does not reasonably provide enablement for the method of treating all of the various diseases many of which are unrelated. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims. The claims as recited are broader than the scope of enablement. 1cup

The applicant is referred to In re Wands, 858 f.2d 731, 737, 8 USPQ2d 1400, 1404 (Fed. Cir. 1988) which includes the incorporation of the 8 factors recited in Ex parte Foreman 230 USPQ 546 (Bd. Of App. And Inter 1986).

There are many factors to be considered when determining whether there is sufficient evidence to support a determination that a disclosure does not satisfy the enablement requirement and whether any necessary experimentation is "undue". These factors include 1) the breadth of the claims, 2) the nature of the invention, 3) the state of the prior art, 4) the level of one of ordinary skill, 5) the level of predictability in the art 6) the amount of direction provided by the inventor 7) the existence of working examples, and 8) the quantity of experimentation needed to make or use the invention based on the content of the disclosure. In re Wands, 858 F. 2d 731, 737, 8 USPQ2d 1400, 1404 (Fed. Cir. 1988).

In terms of the fifth Wands factor, COX-2 inhibition ranges from 30 to 548 and COX-1 inhibition ranges from 26, 350 (nM) to > 100, 000. There are massive differences in COX-1 and COX-2 inhibition activity for small changes in compound structure. The level of predictability regarding COX-1 and COX-2 inhibition is low.

The specification also does not show how these compounds affect the specific diseases claimed in compounds 26-27.

In terms of the 8th Wands factors, undue experimentation would be required to make or use the invention based on the content of the disclosure due to the breadth of the claims, the level of predictability in the art of the invention, and the poor amount of direction provided by the inventor. Taking the above factors into consideration, it is not seen where the instant claim is enabled by the instant application.

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter, which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim(s) 28 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

A. In claim 28, line 1, page 9 of the amendment at paper no. 10/B, the term "pain" is indefinite. What physiological pain is the applicant referring to? ? keep

✓ B. In claims 26-29, there is no reference to the administration of a compound to a host in need thereof. ?

3. Claims 1-10, 17, 18 and 35 are allowable.
